Just moments from Covent Garden's piazza, Cafe Murano has been welcoming guests to the West End since 2015.

Inspired by the warmth and generosity of Italian trattorias, the restaurant makes a wonderful setting for corporate events and private celebrations, from company parties and client dinners to milestone birthdays and wedding festivities. Set across two floors, the space is wonderfully versatile and easy to shape around any occasion.

Guests might begin downstairs with an aperitivo and cicchetti at the bar before heading upstairs for a seated dinner, or dine on one floor while the other comes to life with speeches, music or dancing as the evening unfolds. Right in the heart of London's theatre district, it's a place made for good food, lively conversation and celebrations that carry on a little longer than planned.

“

“Just wanted to put a note of Thanks together for the lovely evening my guest had last night at the Covent Garden Cafe Murano.. The atmosphere was perfect, the food was amazing, and the service (and I can't remember her name) was just so attentive and helpful and so on top of things, she was just great. Everything was very special so thank you to you and the rest of the team for a lovely evening“

Corporate client

“

“We had the most incredible time, truly. It felt like such a special night - the food was incredible, our hostess was so kind, and considerate and accommodating and patient! We honestly, couldn't have asked for anything better. Everyone has messaged me to say how much they loved it. What a way to celebrate my 40th.”

Birthday dinner

“I would like to thank the staff involved for making the meal run perfectly and for the excellent service, organisation and delicious food on the night. We had conference visitors who had made a long trip to come to London for the day and we were delighted that the 'thank you' dinner went so well. Many thanks to all involved.“

Just a short walk from Piccadilly Circus and St James's Market, Cafe Murano St James's is set across one long floor and centred around a striking bar that runs through the middle of the room, naturally becoming the focal point of the space.

The layout works particularly well for lively standing receptions, product launches and client entertainment, where guests can move easily between the bar and food stations. Italian aperitivo spreads, olive oil tastings or drinks and cicchetti circulating through the room all work beautifully here. It's a relaxed, sociable setting designed for events where people can eat, drink and mingle with ease.

Situated on Bermondsey Street, one of London's most vibrant food neighbourhoods, Cafe Murano Bermondsey brings the feel of an Italian neighbourhood restaurant to this lively corner of South London.

The space is bright and modern, with large windows at the front that fill the room with natural light and can open to the street on warmer days. Along the length of the main dining room runs an open kitchen, giving guests a view of the chefs at work throughout the evening.

The main space flows into an additional area at the rear, ideal for welcome drinks, a photo moment or a place for guests to gather before sitting down. It works beautifully for company celebrations, weddings and lively gatherings where the evening can move easily from drinks to dinner and back again.

The image shows the interior of Cafe Murano, featuring a warm, pinkish-red wall. A large framed painting of two dogs, one black and white and one brown and white, is the central focus. The cafe is furnished with round tables and wooden chairs with purple seats. The tables are set with white plates, glasses, and blue salt and pepper shakers. A wooden coat rack is visible on the left, and a hanging glass chandelier is on the right. The overall atmosphere is cozy and elegant.
